Home visit safety survey

Have you conducted home visits as part of your work in a Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora mental health service? Please take 7 - 10 minutes to share your experiences in an anonymous nationwide survey about home visits and staff safety.

Why take part? Your experiences will help us to better understand the risks and challenges of home visits, and evaluate whether current protocols and practices are supporting staff safety.

We'd like to hear from all Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora mental health workers across Aotearoa New Zealand, including:

- Nurses
- Doctors (SMOs, RMOs)
- Occupational Therapists
- Social Workers
- Psychologists
- Cultural support workers
- Community support workers

About: This study is being conducted by a team of researchers affiliated with Counties Manukau and the University of Auckland. The goal is to gather national data about mental health staff experiences of home visits, to support ongoing conversations within Te Whatu Ora about how the safety of staff can be better protected on home visits. Ethics approval for this study was granted by the Auckland Health Research Ethics Committee (AHREC) on 22.01.2026 for 3 years [Ref AH30640]. For more information, please load the survey to read the Participant Information Sheet. If you have any questions or comments, please contact Dr Yalan Mo (Principal Investigator) at ymo005@aucklanduni.ac.nz.
